Judge's Comments

A lovely class to judge, the top 6 wines were the subject of animated discussion in the final taste off. The judges were delighted to find complex characters backed by finely tuned acid structures. There is excellent winemaking at work in the top medal winners. Capturing complexity, while maintaining vibrancy and freshness is the key.

Judge's Comments

A disappointing class. 2011 wines reflecting tough vintage conditions. Showing lack of freshness, and fermentation problems. All wines lacking vibrancy and fruit purity.

Judge's Comments

A tough class to judge. The trials and tribulations of vintage 2011 are there for all to see. There was an abiding sense of dilution, and in the worse case, clear evidence of rot. Even so, we found a number of wines where growers and winemakers triumphed over the treacherous weather conditions, producing wines with real cut and drive. Medals were hard earned and when awarded, thoroughly deserved.

Judge's Comments

Further proof that this pairing of variety and region is a blessed union. Some really intuitive winemaking at play here. Top wines show a pleasing diversity of style, and the trophy winner, a sublime example that proves that complexity and restraint are not mutually exclusive terms.

Judge's Comments

A challenging class to judge. The lively discussion ensuring on what constitutes varietal character in Pinot Gris. One judge had a clear preference for the 2011 vintage, suggesting that the cool, wet conditions were handled better by this variety.

Judge's Comments

Very hard to get excited about this class. 2011 was clearly hard work. The common fault was that there was not enough fruit to balance the acid. Too many wines looked thin and stripped of flavour. Grubby sulphide characters do nothing for this style of wine. Keep it clean!

Judge's Comments

Top wines are beautiful and the strongest results in memory from this class. Balance, seduction, vibrancy and energy.... A great class to judge. The much hyped but rarely delivered potential is starting to emerge.

Judge's Comments

The panel struggled to find highlights in this class. The general feeling was that many wines lacked fruit intensity, rather a lot of scaffolding and hard to see the building behind it. The better wines wore their Cabernet personalities proudly. 2010 is clearly the superior vintage.

Judge's Comments

Some disappointing wines showing oxidation and brett problems. Better wines showed bright berry flavours and length. Acid additions are in question - some might be overdoing it. Oak usage could be more subtle in some cases.

50 Paracombe Wines

2009 Paracombe Shiraz Viognier

Judge's Comments

Terrific class to judge. There's no doubt that the Adelaide Hills is producing cool climate Shiraz at the highest level. The highest strike rate for medals says it all. The judges were tough on wines that showed overripe characters, poor oak selection or aggressive tannin. The top wines wore their cool climate origins with pride. Complex spice notes and fragrant red fruit characters proved hard to resist. Congratulations in particular to the growers/producers of the gold medal winners. A stunning set of wines.

An eclectic bunch. No major faults to report and it seems Saperavi has a future in the Hills. Not really a museum class though.
